

L'Oréal sustainability ambition for 2030

For over 110 years, L'Oréal, the world's leading beauty player, has devoted itself to one thing only: fulfilling the beauty aspirations of consumers around the world. In 2013, Sharing Beauty With All has been a key milestone for L'Oréal as its first sustainable development targets at group level. In June 2020, L'Oréal has released its sustainability targets for 2030 under L'Oréal For The Future. They are based on the Planetary Boundaries concept as well as the Sciences Based Targets. They are addressing four main stakes, climate, water, biodiversity and resources, as well as social commitments. L'Oréal For The Future targets cover downstream as well as upstream impacts of the group. Collaboration is critical to achieve these targets, especially with L'Oréal suppliers' and future suppliers', as sourcing of ingredients and packaging play a significant role in achieving these targets. Embarking consumers will also be instrumental as the use of products has a significant impact on the overall Life Cycle Assessment of cosmetic products, especially in water and carbon footprint.
