

In his lecture, Mathias Kaldenhoff addresses the path of an organic raw material (carbon) from harvesting/degradation within the biological and technical cycle. He describes how mass balances and recover management can be successfully implemented using technologies (blockchain, AAS, etc.) and material management.